There are 3 ways to get My Vaccine Pass/Certificate!!

- Online – The quickest way to get a My Vaccine Pass is through the website My Covid Record. You will need a unique email address and a valid ID.
www.mycovidrecord.health.nz/
- Over the Phone – If you cannot access My Covid Record, or do not have a unique email address or valid ID, you can call the Ministry of Health to request a physical copy. It will help to have your NHI number ready – you can find this on a hospital letter, a prescription or prescription receipt. Ph 0800 222 478.
- In Person – Some pharmacies that are providing COVID-19 vaccinations can also help your request and print a My Vaccine Pass. Confirm in advance that they offer this service and bring your NHI number, if you can, when you visit. You do not need to have ID or an email address to get your pass or certificate from a pharmacy. You will be asked some personal details so you can be found in the system, having your NHI number with you will be useful.

IN AN EMERGENCY DIAL 111

In For A Summer Dip (a healthy one)

Beetroot Dip

Ingredients

500g beetroots, trimmed and scrubbed

3 spring onions, white and greens, chopped

2 tbsp avocado, chopped

1 red chilli, finely sliced

1 tsp ground coriander

2 tbsp walnuts

3 tbsp coconut oil or extra virgin olive oil

1 tbsp lemon juice or apple cider vinegar

sea salt and pepper

1 tbsp sesame seeds

1 tbsp mint leaves

Method

1. Chop the beetroot and combine with the spring onions, avocado, chilli, coriander, walnuts, oil, lemon juice, sea salt and pepper in a high-speed blender. Whiz for two minutes until smooth, stopping to scrape down the sides once or twice.

2. Taste and adjust spices, sea salt and pepper. Scatter with sesame seeds, mint leaves, and a final drizzle of olive oil, and serve as a dip with roast vegetable chips, vegetable crudité or crisp leaves, or as a relish with other dishes.

Hummus

Ingredients

350g dried chickpeas

2 tsp baking soda

200g tahini

4 cloves garlic, finely grated

2 lemons, juiced, salt flakes

4 green cardamom pods

4 allspice berries

2 tsp cumin seeds

Extra virgin olive oil

About 150ml iced water

1 bunch chicory or parsley

Method

1. Soak the chickpeas overnight in lots of water, then drain and place in a large saucepan with the baking soda and plenty of cold water and bring to a simmer. Skim and cook for about 40 minutes or until the chickpeas are cooked - cooking time will vary, depending on the age of the chickpeas.

2. Remove one-third of the cooked chickpeas and drain. Simmer the rest until they're really tender, then drain.

3. Add the well-cooked chickpeas to a food processor and process to a stiff paste. Add the tahini, garlic and lemon juice and blitz for a minute or two. Taste and season.

4. While processing, drizzle in some iced water (you won't need the full 150 ml) until the hummus is light and fluffy, but not too loose.

5. Grind the spices together in a mortar and pestle with some salt. Remove the cardamom husks. Roll the whole chickpeas in the spice mix until well coated.

6. Fry the spiced chickpeas in olive oil over medium heat until fragrant and slightly golden.

7. Smear the hummus on a plate, scatter over the spiced chickpeas and top with chopped chicory or parsley and a drizzle of olive oil. Serve with harissa and toasted flatbread

Avocado

If you have the time, you can't go past serving a homemade avocado dip that contains little other than avocado, lemon and seasoning. While relatively high in fat, it remains a natural whole food that can be enjoyed with vegies or crackers. Or, even better, mix it with some high-protein Greek yoghurt or edamame for a filling, protein-rich dip to enjoy as a spread or with crackers or chips

Tzatziki

Unlike most creamy dips, tzatziki is made with a yoghurt and cucumber base, and as such is one of the healthiest pre-made dips you can find. Low in both fat and energy, tzatziki can be substituted as a much lighter alternative to aioli and mayonnaise as a creamy dipping sauce. With less than 125 kilojoules per serve and less than 1g of fat, tzatziki also works well with cut up vegetables as lower-energy substitutes for high-fat chips and crackers

Community Board update November/ December

Work has commenced to build the footpath and replace water pipes from Woodbank road intersection to West View. This work was brought forward due to Mainpower requesting tree removal due to line damage. The trees will be replaced with tussock & native shrubs. The Board have discussed a grove of kowhai trees being established at the Woodbank road intersection.

The Council are moving forward on building a footpath on Rippingale road from the intersection of Grantham and around the corner, along Jacks Pass road to connect with the footpath on Devon St.

Hanmer Springs Design Standard update (Plan change 5).

These design standards were instigated 30 years ago to try to preserve the alpine character of Hanmer Springs, ensure that building colours harmonise with the landscape and that buildings are clad in predominantly natural materials.

The review was to update and simplify the rules regarding the design standards. Several interested parties submitted to the review panel. The Design Standards can be found on the HDC website.

The Board received an update from Council officers regarding re-instatement of the Woodbank Road concrete ford which was damaged in a weather event during the winter.

Although the bridge itself is now strengthened to cope with heavy vehicles, some vehicles which use the bridge are too wide and are damaging the sides.

$4000 from the reserves fund was set aside for maintenance for the Memorial Hall. Another $4000 from the tourism fund to finalise design and costing for an Entrance to Hanmer Springs project at the intersection of State Highway 7 and 7A- the road into Hanmer Springs. $2,800 was set aside from the adverse weather fund to assist the track Network Group to clear windfall after the latest wind event.

thank the Community for the widespread support and understanding during recent times.

It is with hope that we can celebrate with our family and friends during the festive time, despite this year being dominated by the Covid-19 pandemic.

This year, again, has proven to be a challenge with the inability to host many events within our District that help us to celebrate our culture and heritage.

I feel fortunate to work with a team of very dedicated councillors and staff who work to achieve the best outcomes for our District. I particularly want to acknowledge the huge array of volunteers – your generosity is appreciated.

Dave and I would like to wish you all a very merry Christmas and trust that 2022 will bring you all good health and prosperity. May you experience peace and joy throughout this Christmas season.

Mayor Marie Black
