

13,722 people walk the Forest Amble in January alone

A total of passed through the Heritage Forest's Forest Amble/Sculpture Walk in the month of January 2023. The largest number in a month yet. This makes the total for the past year to be 83,605.

The combination of the wooden sculptures and the high standard of the fully accessible surface make it a safe, fun walk so it is pleasing to have people still enjoying the experience.

For your information the Heritage Forest land is owned by Ngai Tahu. Rayonier Matariki have the cutting rights on the trees – subject to a covenant. Their continued support for preserving the historic values of the forest and for allowing public access is appreciated. The Hanmer Heritage Forest Trust maintains the trails, facilities and owns the sculptures.
