Printing

Many thanks to all those people who emailed and rang about our dilemma with rising print costs.

We are pleased to report that we have been able to reach a solution with our existing printer. We have stressed with them that we are a community paper who gives a lot of its space to charity and local organisations. As a result they have come to the party and kept their prices as low as possible for which we thank them - CQ Print of Christchurch.

The only difference you will see in forthcoming issues is that instead of 100gsm paper it will be produced on 80gsm paper which is 20% lighter

Pinkie Report Week 6 2023

Journalist - Amelia Saric.

Hurunui Swimming Sports.

On Monday a team of Year 4-8 students went to the Thermal Pools to compete in the Hurunui Zone Swimming Sports. The day started off cloudy and slightly cool but then it warmed up. First we had the non-competitive freestyle, where our swimmers raced 25 metres, followed by backstroke, butterfly and breaststroke races. Our swimmers tried their best and swam their races well.

Afterwards the competitive swimmers competed in their races, which were 50 metres. We started off with the Y4 freestyle followed by the other year groups, then it was the backstroke, butterfly and breaststroke races. There were some close races with the finishers just seconds between the placings. Everyone tried their best and showed our school values of excellence and resilience. Lastly came the relay. We had a junior team and a Y8 team. Congratulations to Amelia Nelson who won the Y8 girls butterfly race, what a great achievement. She is heading off to the Canterbury swimming champions later this term. Good luck Amelia!

Thank you to Mrs Hay for organising our team to attend this and to all of the parent helpers who helped with the timing.

Blue Light Canterbury PCT (Physical Competency Test) Competition.

On Tuesday a team of four Y7/8 students, Amelia S, Charlie, Noah and Cooper went to Cowles Stadium for the PCT competition. First we had the briefing and the police showed us how to complete the course, then we split up into groups with the other teams. We were one of the first groups to do the obstacle course. First we had to push wheelie bins around some cones, then we ran a lap of the basketball court. Next we ran across a beam, then jumped across a mat. Afterwards we hurdled over a bar, then we jumped through a window and jumped over a wall. We then dragged a dummy and finally we climbed over a fence. This physical test is the one that the police complete as part of their training - we found it fun and rewarding as we all worked well together.

Afterwards we did other activities like the minefield and frisbee relays. We also did CPR with St Johns and a speed test with Constable Ken. The top speed was 27 kilometres per hour; our times were 24 kph by Noah, 22 kph by Charlie and 21 kph by Cooper and Amelia. We had turns sitting in the police car and talking into the microphone. We then went into the stadium and they announced the top 3 teams, then they competed to see who was going to Auckland to compete.

Thank you to Daniel Bryant for taking us to Christchurch and for supporting us throughout the day.

World Maths Day - Amazing Race.

On Wednesday it was World Maths Day and Mr McBride organised an Amazing Maths Race for us to complete. Each house was divided into three teams and we started off on the first challenge where we had to make a shape with our group. Once we had completed this challenge we were given the next clue.

We had to work together in our teams to solve the different challenges. One challenge was in the library where we had to find a book with Maths in it; another was in Piwakawaka class where we had to make a Mathematical creation; another was in the playground where we had to draw different shapes found in the playground equipment; another was in the garden where we had to use our bodies to spell a Mathematical word - we spelt Maths; and the last one was on the basketball court where we had to count the lines on the court - there are 25 lines. My favourite challenge was making the Mathematical creation as we had fun using the blocks to make an equation.

Thank you to Mr McBride for organising such a fun Maths challenge for us. Next week we have our times table maths challenge, with the finals being held in our assembly on Friday.

Pasta alla Norma

This traditional Sicilian pasta dish of sautéed eggplant tossed with tomato sauce and topped with ricotta salata makes for a satisfying vegetarian dinner, and it can be thrown together in under an hour.

INGREDIENTS

750 grams eggplant
Olive oil as needed (at least ½ cup)
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon chopped garlic
3 or 4 dried chiles
750 grams tomatoes, chopped (canned are fine; about 1 can)
1 teaspoon good dried oregano, or 1 tablespoon fresh
450 grams long pasta
½ cup chopped parsley or basil
½ cup grated ricotta (or in a pinch, pecorino Romano)

PREPARATION

Step 1

Slice the eggplant about ½ inch thick. Cook in abundant olive oil, without crowding, sprinkling with salt and adding more oil as needed. You will undoubtedly have to cook in batches; take your time and cook until the eggplant is nicely browned and soft. Remove to a plate; do not drain on paper towels. Meanwhile, put a large pot of water to boil and salt it.

Step 2

At the end of the cooking the eggplant, the pan will ideally have a couple of tablespoons of oil left. If there's more or less, drain some off or add a bit. Turn the heat to medium, add the garlic and chiles, and cook until the garlic colors a little bit. Add the tomatoes and oregano, along with some salt and pepper; cook until saucy but not too dry, stirring occasionally.

Step 3

Cook the pasta until tender but not mushy. While it's cooking, cut the eggplant into strips and reheat for a minute in the tomato sauce. Drain the pasta and toss it with the tomato sauce and the eggplant. Taste and adjust the seasoning, then top with the parsley or basil and grated cheese and serve.

Irish Hot Lemon Pudding

INGREDIENTS

1 tablespoon/15 grams unsalted butter, softened
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
3 large eggs, yolks and whites separated
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 large lemons, grated and juiced (about 2 tablespoons zest and 6 tablespoons juice)
1 cup whole milk
Confectioners' sugar, for dusting
Softly whipped cream, for serving

PREPARATION

Step 1

Heat oven to 180 degrees and set a rack in the middle of the oven.

Step 2

Place butter in a medium mixing bowl. Gradually add sugar as you mash the mixture with a wooden spoon until it looks like damp sand.

Step 3

Mix egg yolks into sugar mixture, then beat in the flour. Add lemon zest and juice, then whisk in the milk.

Step 4

In a separate clean large bowl, beat egg whites to stiff peaks. Fold whites by hand gently into batter.

Step 5

Pour mixture into a 5-cup ceramic or glass baking dish (or Pyrex pie plate). Bake in the middle of the oven for about 40 minutes, or until mixture is just set and top is golden brown. (Alternatively, bake in individual ramekins or custard cups for about 20 minutes.)

Step 6

Serve warm, dusted with confectioners' sugar, with softly whipped cream alongside.

An Inability To Deliver on Promises

And what goes for the U.S. goes for the rest of the world. China is currently the world's biggest emitter on an annual basis. It has said that it will reach net zero by 2060. In the early months of 2022, Beijing approved five enormous new coal-fired generating plants. In August, when a punishing drought cut into hydropower production along the Yangtze River, the country hit a new record for daily coal consumption. Climate Action Tracker, an independent research group based in Berlin, rates China's climate policies as "highly insufficient" and notes that the country has recently "renege" on promises to shift away from coal.

India, which is now the world's third-biggest emitter—one rung behind the U.S.—has declared that it will reach net zero by 2070. Meanwhile, its emissions are rising fast. This past spring, when India was hit with a devastating heat wave and power use surged, its Coal Ministry announced plans to reopen a hundred mines that had been closed as unprofitable.

Russia is the world's fourth-largest emitter. It is aiming, on paper at least, to reach net zero by 2060. But it has taken almost no action to rein in its emissions, and this seems unlikely to change anytime soon. In 2003, President Vladimir Putin joked that warming would enable Russians to "spend less on fur coats"; more recently, he has blamed climate change on "some invisible shifts in the galaxy."

The European Union's pledge to hit net-zero emissions by 2050 is written into E.U. law. But, after Russia cut gas deliveries to the bloc, several countries, including Germany and the Netherlands, announced plans to fire up old coal plants or extend the lives of plants that had been slated to close. "The war in Ukraine is putting climate action on the back burner," the U.N. Secretary-General, António Guterres, lamented last month. A recent study by a consortium of research institutes in Europe and the U.S. concluded that only five per cent of the hundred and twenty-eight countries that have set the goal of reaching net zero have taken the requisite first steps. It found an "alarming lack of credibility" to most of the commitments.

The broken promises extend in all directions. At last year's cop, held in Glasgow, a hundred and forty countries vowed to put a stop to "forest loss," another major source of greenhouse-gas emissions. (A single full-grown tree can store as much as seven tons of carbon.) Among the signatories of the declaration was Brazil; in the six months following the conference, deforestation rates in the country soared to new highs.

The Democratic Republic of the Congo also signed the forest pledge. In July, the D.R.C. announced that it was opening thirty huge tracts, encompassing an estimated twenty-five million acres of rain forest and two million acres of peatlands, to oil and gas exploration. (Some of the tracts overlap Virunga National Park, a refuge for critically endangered mountain gorillas.)

Then there are the pledges of financial support. The hundred billion dollars a year promised in Copenhagen to developing nations have yet to materialise. By some estimates, the shortfall runs to twenty billion dollars a year; by others, it's four times that amount.

"To be charitable, this is a manifestation of the inability of the developed countries to deliver," Saleemul Huq, the director of the International Centre for Climate Change and Development, in Dhaka, Bangladesh, told us. "To be uncharitable, they just don't give a damn. Unfortunately, the uncharitable interpretation seems to be more valid."

- How many golf courses are there in New Zealand: 393.
- What is the average land area of a New Zealand golf course: 60-80 ha.
- How many New Zealand people over 18 years old play golf regularly: 482,000.
- What is the present handicap for:
Men 16.42
Women 23.31

- Which countries have the most gold clubs:

USA 16,752
Japan 3,169 Canada 2,633 England 2,270 Australia 1,616 Germany 1,050 France 804 South Korea 798

GOLF

- Worldwide number of golf courses: just under 40,000.
- The oldest golf club in New Zealand: Manawātū Golf Club (1895).
- Where was golf invented: Scotland.
- Very few golfers get to have a handicap under: 18.
- Worldwide, the number of golf balls that are discarded or lost per year is: 300 million.
- Average length of a golf course: 6,400 - 6,700 metres, but quite a lot of variation.
- Based on a land area of 60 ha, many New Zealand golf courses near the larger towns would easily have a current land value of perhaps $100 million.

- Let's now look at what a dedicated regular golfer with a 20 handicap may pay each year for being part of this wonderful game: Based on:
  - Clubs costing $2,400, including bag and all extras
  - Playing for a full day every week for 52 weeks
  - Living 18 kilometres from the course.

|   |         |
|---|---------|
| Annual subscription                                   | $500   |
| Clubs depreciation at 17.5%                           | $420   |
| Losing one ball per round (52 at $4)                 | $208   |
| Car mileage at Government mileage rates (83 cents/km) | $1,554 |
| Beer at 19th hole ($30 per round)                    | $1,560 |
| Lotto tickets (52 x $10)                             | $520   |
| Golf clothes and shoes per year                       | $200   |
| Flowers and chocolate for home partner (52 x $10)    | $520   |
| One broken club per year                              | $130   |
| Traffic fines   | $200   |
| Insurance cost - car (52/365 x $800)                 | $114   |
| Insurance cost - holes in one + wayward strokes       | $26    |
| Taxi cost (4 x $50)                                  | $200   |
| Swearing penalty (26 x $2)                           | $52    |
| Counselling (2 x $80)                                | $160   |
| Competition entry costs (10 x $50)                   | $500   |
| Parking fines (8 x $40)                              | $320   |
| Top shelf at 19th hole (26 x $10)                    | $520   |
| Medical costs regarding stress (4 x $60)             | $240   |
| Food and coffee at 19th hole (52 x $15)              | $760   |
|   | <hr/>   |
|   | $8,704 |

Not all of these costs may apply in some cases, but the core total is interesting - in summary, it is suggesting:

That our 20-handicapper would average around 92 strokes per round, and a total of 4,784 strokes per year (52 x 92).

This then suggests that the total cost comes out at $1.82 per stroke, or $167 per round. This golfer, though, is a happy golfer and looks forward to every weekend.
